INSPIRATIONAL LECTURER

SHOSHANA KAY

Receiving the Gifts Life has to Offer

Shoshana Kay is the Executive Director of Meor at Temple & Drexel Universities, a national campus outreach program. When not spending the majority of her time with college students, Shoshana is proud to serve as the National Program Director of Mikvah USA's Education Division. A sought out national speaker, Shoshana uses honest, personal insight; wit and charm to inspire and entertain varied audiences. Born in Johannesburg, South Africa and raised in Toronto, Canada, Shoshana attended McGill University in Montreal. She graduated with honors in International Relations and Economics. Upon graduation, Shoshana attended Neve Yerushalayim and launched her decade long career in marketing and development with a PR firm in Jerusalem. Currently, Shoshana resides in Philadelphia with her husband, Rabbi Shimon Kay and six children. For the last two years, Shoshana has been inspiring audiences throughout North America with her personal story of triumph through struggle. Sharing with humor and courage the trials and tribulations of raising "special" children, her own journey of "getting sick" and the miracles that have transpired in the process.
